PROVO CITIZEN DEAD.

Long Illness.

Provo. May 21.—John Whitmer Hoover, one of Provo's oldest and most highly respected citizens, died this morning at 4 o'clock, after several months' illness, from heart disease and dropsy. Mr. Hoover was born in Bridgeport, Pa., Nov. 18, 1834. His parents became members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints that year, and shortly thereafter moved to Nauvoo. They later moved to St. George, Mo., where the father died. In 1852 the widow and the children ar-

The same year he moved to Springville, and in 1861 located in Provo, which has since been his home. He has been engaged in the milling business since 1854, being the proprietor of the Excelsior Roller mills, in this city, at the time of his death.

Mr. Hoover was a kindly, industrious, honorable man, who probably had never knowingly done a wrongful act. He was most highly esteemed by the entire community.

THREW DISHES AT WIFE.

Liquor Has a Disastrous Effect on James Draper.

James Draper threw dishes at his wife when he went home to dinner last night, and landed himself in the city jail. He pelted the woman with cups and saucers and other articles of table use until her frightened screams attracted the attention of neighbors, who John W. Hoover Passes Away After called the police and had the man arrested.

According to the officers, Draper went to his home last night after a whole afternoon's struggle with John Barleycorn. He was decidedly worsted in the encounter, and was in an ugly mood by the time he reached home. He wanted his dinner at once, and it wasn't ready. He called his wife names and said she wasn't worth keeping. The woman was finally driven to some trivial remark in retaliation, and that
